

Game by Neta Siloni

How to play?

Shuffle the cards well. Deal out 4 cards to each player. Place the remaining cards in a stack facing down in the center.

Each player, in turn, asks one of the other players for a card that will complete one of the sets in their hand.

How? - Without words!

Instead, the player should try to accurately imitate the finger movement on the card.

If they use words to describe the card than they are disqualified, and the turn passes on to the next player.

If the player gets the card they asked for, they can request another card. If they do not get the card they needed, they must draw a new card from the stack, and the turn moves on to the player on their right.

When a player completes a set of 4, they reveal it and place it in front of them. Then, the turn moves to the next player. If a player has no cards left, they draw one card from the stack. If no cards are left in the stack, the players continue to play until all the sets of 4 are completed.

The winner is the player with the most sets.

Additional games:

- Try to imagine the characters on each card: boy or girl? Old or young? Happy or sad?
- Play as a memory game with pairs of cards (22 cards).
- Invent a new finger movement and the other participants will imitate you. Who will succeed?

